

Veterans Benefits

General Qualifications for Non-Service Connected Aid and Attendance

- Veteran must have served at least ninety days active duty with one day of the ninety during a qualified war period (ninety days must generally be consecutive, with some exceptions)
- Veteran must have had an “other than dishonorable discharge”
- Claimant’s physician must declare him/her as housebound and in need of assistance from another individual, which may include services offered by assisted living
- Claimant should have less than $80,000.00 in household assets; excluding primary home, car, and personal belongings (if assets are jointly owned by other than spouse, only the claimant’s share is generally countable. In the case of a married veteran, both his/her assets are countable. Although $80k is typically the asset cap, the VA may also consider the claimant’s life expectancy and demand lower total assets. In the case of excessive assets, it may be best to consult with a qualified financial advisor.
- Claimant’s household out-of-pocket yearly medical expenses must exceed or come close to his/her total yearly household gross income (total yearly cost of assisted living is typically considered a medical expense)
- Widowed spouse must have been living with the veteran at the time of the veteran’s death, unless the separation was due to medical or military reasons (there may be some exceptions related to separations due to abuse)
